MOTOR TRUCK PAYS FARMER.

Discussion at Meeting of Horsham Farmers' Club.

Chalkley Stackhouse Gives His Experience—Interesting Topics Discussed—The Cathedral at Bryn Athyn—The Next Meeting.

The Horsham Farmers' club gathered at the home of Ezra and Mary Carrell on the evening of April 23. Despite the extremely inclement weather, a goodly number had assembled when the president, Isaac Michener, called the club to order and the regular routine was observed. The minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary and the committees reported.

Executive committee: "In your experience what have you discovered to be "tricks" in getting a fine corn crop, and what causes most failures?" P. Gheen. "Has spraying and grading of potatoes proved profitable to potato growers?" Atley Saurman. "Have prices for the goods farmers buy been reduced in proportion to those they sell? If not why?" Alfred Williams. To talk on Current topics—Sara Goentner and Louise Yerkes. Time and place of next meeting, the home of Alfred and Susan J. Williams, Hatboro, on the evening of May 21st.

Answering of referred questions: "Are auto trucks a paying investment to the average farmer?" Chalkley Stackhous said it always has paid him. They are valuable in hauling out the crops and also in bringing a return load. But buy a new one when you buy. No one will sell you one second, hand, unless it is faulty.

"Does it pay a farmer with a large family to spend much time on the care of the lawn and flowers?" Mrs. Mullin said it does because it makes everything more attractive, and thus more valuable.

Mr. Carrell said the object or the executive committee in giving this question was to interest the boys and girls, and the committee felt it might be good to give them this for their particular work. This was discussed favorably.

Current topics Mrs. Frank Carrell gave an excellent resume of the past month, beginning with the Swedenborgian cathedral, particularly the glass that has lately been purchased for it by Mr. Pitcairn at the cost of nearly $1,000,000. Bryn Athyn is the finest show piece in the neighborhood. The smallest piece of carving kown is a head of Christ done by a prisoner in his cell with very poor tools.

The effort to enforce the law of prohibition seems unsuccessful. "The country is too wet for the drys and too dry for the wets." A sketch of and a tribute to John Burroughs. She told of the discovery of the Bacon cypher.

Mrs. Ezra Carrell asked that some one prepare an article on the researches of Dr. Newbold in reference to this sypher. Mrs. Charles Kinsey told, Japan's naval efforts that are a menace. The Michigan legislature has begun war again Henry Ford's articles against the Jews. All large volcanoes are more active than for many years. A description of the eclipse of the moon on the morning of the 20th. She gave some of the prices of flour, etc. We wonder when bakers will learn that the price of flour is down. The copper mine on the outskirts of Solebury Deer park has recently been opened naturally by the action of rain and frost. This mine has been closed a hundred years.

Crop committee, Mr. Newton Wood said there is a prospect of good grass and some straw in the wheat fields.

Frank Carrell said the fruit crop is very badly damaged. Some prophet has said we are to have a hard freeze in May so that will perhaps finish it.

Mrs. William Penrose does not know if Chickens are crops, but she has been very successful with lime water for the diseases incident to chicks, thus curing white diarrhoea, etc.

Benjamin Park, asked what can be used the most successfully to relieve eyes that suffer from dust and fertilizers. He was told to use an eye dropper for boracic acid, and as hot water as possible.

Domestic science, Mrs. Penrose suggested that if a tiny hole be made in the cork of a bottle of flavoring extract it will be available in the right quantities. Put a good coat of vasaline on your plate after cleaning. It will come out without a spot of tarnish. Remove a cake from a pan with an inner tube by means of a knitting needle instead of a knife. Cut the heart out of a head of lettuce and put it away in a paper bag. It will keep a long time, because the rot is apt to start in the heart.

An excellent number f the Club Gazette was read by the editor, Miss Marguerite Hallowell.

For the good of the Club Mrs. H. W. Hallowell proposed a plan to regulate the refreshments by a hostess committee, whose duty it shall be to assist the hostess of the evening.

The executive committee called upon John Park for a report of the meeting at Harrisburg some weeks ago Mr. Park asked that this be deferred to the next meeting. Mrs. Anna D. Hallowell, Miss M. Goentner Mr. Ezra Carrell were appointed a committee to assist the hostess at any meeting when their help was desired.

"The Devil," a Wonderful Play, to Be Shown on May 5.

Description of George Arliss' Effort Proves It a Great Allegorical Presentation—Proceeds to Aid Social Service Work Here.

Great interest is being manifested in the coming production of George Arliss' wonderful play "The Devil," which comes to the Ambler opera house for three performances Thursday, May 5th, as a benefit for the social service work of Ambler and vicinity. It is for the purpose of raising funds to increase the efficiency of this work, which has grown to such an extent during the last two years that now more funds are needed to further the work. "The Devil" is a motion picture play and is the first production by this wonderful actor, George Arliss, whose debut is the epochal of the highest traditions of the stage, and his acting in "The Devil" becomes immortal. The play is the sensation of two continents, and, to be produced in Ambler, its cost is almost prohibitive, but nevertheless the committee has made the necessary arrangements to have this triumph of photodramatic art shown at the local opera house. In this dramatic event of supreme importance, Mr. Arliss portrays the fact that the people are the play toys for the devil. He comes in the guise of the smooth society meddler and twists the souls and wounds the hearts of men, women, wives, husbands and sweethearts, and yet he wins by his suavity and with his chosen words he lures to his plans.

In giving a brief outline of the play, which is attracting so much attention, Mr. Arliss is shown as Dr. Muller. Men and women were merely puppets to be played with as his own diabolical nature dictated. In the guise of a trusted friend he gave advice that worked to their unhappiness. He misplaced, affection, and by subtle suggestions and insidious lies he ensnared their souls. He arouses tempestuous jealousy and he pits one against the other in a fight for love. Then, with triumph in his grasp, the inmate goodness of all proves too strong for his evil designs, and as the picture ends the great fact is brought home that right and truth will triumph over evil at all times.

As stated, no expense is being spared to bring this wonderful photo play to Ambler and in order that it might be shown to advantage a seven-piece orchestra will furnish the music. The orchestra will be under the directions of Mr. Edward Moore, formerly director of the Replogle concert orchestra and at present leading violinist with Lehman's orchestra. Other members are: Miss Margaret Ritchie, formerly with the Liberty orchestra, of Pittsburgh; Mr. Charles Littleton, cornetist, who will appear this summer at Willow Grove park; relief pianist will be Mr. Morris Goldsmith, who is at present making piano rolls for one of the manufacturers of Philadelphia, and who will also play 'cello; Mr. Vincent Amarosia will be the flutist of the orchestra, and he is at present engaged with the leading musical organizations of the city. Mr. Raymond Vetta, of the United States concert orchestra, will assist on the violin, and the drums will be played by Mr. William Ereman, who is now also engaged with the leading orchestra of Germantown and vicinity. The committee has also gone to considerable expense to secure these able musicians. However, it is necessary, as the regular music score which was recently used at the Stanley theatre, will be played during presentation of the picture.

There will be shows, in order to accommodate all who desire to see the play. The afternon performance, which will begin at 3.45 o'clock, will be for the young folk especially, and in order to please them a good comedy, Buster Keaton, in the "Scare Crow," will be shown. This comedy will also be given in the evening. The two performances in the evening will begin at 7 and 9 o'clock. The tickets, which are 15 cents for children and 30 cents for adults for the matinee and 50 cents for all in the evening, will be placed on sale this Thursday morning at all the leading stores in Ambler and at Craig's Pharmacy and Arbuckle-Gordon company's office, Fort Washington. Already the demand for tickets has become to great that it will be wise for local residents who desire to see this master piece of Mr. Arliss, not to delay, but to buy their tickets the day they are placed on sale.

YOUTH ADMITS LANSDALE THEFT

Lansdale Youth Arrested As He Leaves Church.

Another Also Held—Alleged to Have Held Up Store of P. R. Hunsberger at Dublin—After Hearing Both Held Without Bail.

Two Lansdale youths, who are said to have made an abandoned farm their base of operations for a series of robberies and a hold-up, were arrested Sunday, one as he was leaving a Lansdale church with a young woman.

William Tice, twenty-one years old Pierce street, Lansdale, and Robert Stockard, leighteen year old, are the alleged robbers.

According to the state police, Tice and Stockard stole an automobile from the Tyson coal yard at Lansdale Tuesday night, and drove it to an abandoned farm at Betzwood, formerly used as part of a motion-picture studio.

Then, according to their alleged confession, they started from the farmhouse each night in the stolen automobile on errands of crime. Last Wednesday night, police say, they robbed the Kratz general store at Lansdale.

The following night, it is charged, they broke into the building of the Blue Springs Lake Development and obtained tools, and later robbed two summer cottages along the Perkiomen creek near Spring Mount.

At the Towamencin quarry, four miles south of Lansdale, tools and several sticks of dynamite were taken. According to a confession they are said to have made, they equipped the dynamite fuses and intended to use it in the event that they were cornered by the authorities.

Last Friday night, it is declared, they went to the store of P. R. Hunsberger, at Dublin, Bucks county, who formerly kept the store at Broad Axe, and at the points of revolvers ordered him to turn over his cash. They obtained $16 from a cash drawer.

Mrs. Hunsberger entered while the hold-up was being committed. "Please don't shoot my baby," she pleaded.

"We're not after kids," one of the men said as they left.

Saturday night they left the abandoned farm and returned to their homes. Tice was arested at 9 o'clock after attending church services, in which he took part. He was whisked away from his young woman companion just after passing out of the door of the church.

Stockard was arrested at 2 o'clock Monday morning in bed at his home. Both were arraigned at 3.30 o'clock Monday morning before Justice of the Peace Boorse in Lansdale.

MARRIED 50 YEARS.

Rev. and Mrs. Herman S. Cook are Congratulated.

Felicitated by the Congregation of Upper Dublin Lutheran Church—Gift Received—Life History of the "Bride and Groom."

A unique and most nappy event was the celebration on last Thursday evening, April 21, by the Upper Dublin Lutheran church, of the 50th anniversary of the marriage of their pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Herman S. Cook. The congregation deserves much credit for the appropriateness and perfection of the plans for this occasion, which although under way for a long time, proved a complete surprise to both pastor and wife.

With very few exceptions, the entire congregation, children and adults, were present, as well as other friends, to celebrate the unusual event. The auditorium was completely filled and suitably decorated. Elder J. Walter Lauer presided with his usual efficiency. The splendid singing of appropriate selections by the choir, under the leadership of Prof. Kistler, added much to the pleasure of the evening. The speaker of the occasion was Rev. Dr. A. Pohlman, of Philadelphia, whose address, replete with humor, was greatly enjoyed by all. Mr. Lauer, in his usual happy way, on behalf of the congregation, presented to the pastor and his wife, a package, as a substantial token of esteem and affection. The pastor feelingly reponded in a few words of thanks.

Dr. Pohlman then called to the front the "bride and groom," with their three children and two of their grandchildren, and rehearsed the marriage service, after which the entire congregation came forward and tendered their congratulations.

The throwing open of the Sunday school room disclosed a pretty scene. The young people of the church had arranged the most appropriate decorations consisting of a large "golden bell," with golden streamers of ribbon extending to the sides of the room, many flowers and an enormous decorated wedding cake, which was shared by all present. The package was then opened by the pastor and there was disclosed $120 in gold coins in beautiful "golden" cases. This with gold and other gifts from children and friends from far and near, aggregated quite a substantial amount.

Abundant refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, furnished and served by the ladies concluded a most enjoyable evening.

The previous evening the family quietly celebrated the "Golden wedding" at the home of the son, Prof. Ernest F. Cook, at Swarthmore; where an elaborate dinner was served.

Rev. H. S. Cook, and Miss A. Cecilia Failor were married April 20, 1871, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. D. L. Fullerton, at Augusta, Ga., by Rev. Robert Irvine, D. D., pastor of the Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Cook was then the pastor at Newton, Iowa, his wife's home, where he served seven years, from 1869 to 1876. He subsequently served congregations at Lionville, Pa., for six years, Harrisburg, Pa., for over five years; at Waynesboro, Pa., for 12 years, and at Hanover, Pa., for five years and has served the Upper Dublin church as pastor for 12 years.

Their children are: Mrs. E. Edna Baker, wife of Albert E. Baker, banker, Hagerstown, Md. Miss Mary L. [illegible] in charge of the social service department of Delaware hospital, Wilmington, Del.; and Ernest Fullerton Cook, of Swarthmore, Pa., professor at Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and chairman of the 1920 revision committie of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia.

There are seven grand children, one, A. Edmund Baker, being a student at Swarthmore College, and one, the youngest, having recently died, the first break in the family.

Congratulatory letters were received from all the previous pastoral charges, telegrams of congratulations from San Francisco, Calif., Fort Worth Tex., and Boston, Mass., and over 100 cards and letters from far and near.

The Practice Is False Economy for the Farmer.

Only a Few Tools and a Temporary Smokehouse Are Needed to Convert Pigs Into Meat—Use Wet, Cold Fall Days to Earn a Profit.

What is more inviting to a farmer than to come in from the barn on a cold blustery morning to find on his breakfast table a dish well ladden with home-cured ham, juicy, tender, and smoking hot? Why do not more farmers convert their crop of summer pigs into meat for their own use instead of selling it on the market and buying cured meats and high-priced pork products? There is profit in the transaction for the dealer and for the packer but none for the farmer who besides sacrificing profit has also given away one of his most valuable privileges—that of growing and preparing his own food products.

TURN WASTE INTO PROFIT

Any farm will support a few pigs. the waste of the farm may be profitably converted into a valuable food product through the agency of a few young porkers. If more pigs are raised and more pork cured than can be consumed at home there is always opporunity for its sale among the neighbors.

A great many farmers who raise pigs feel that the expense of curing hams and preparing pork products is too great, but some of the best results are secured through the use of inexpensive supplies and equipment. The tools and equipmen necessary for killing and cutting up a pig are: A straight 8-inch sticking knife, a cutting knife, a bell-shaped scraper, a meat saw, a hog hook and gambrel, and an old barrell for scalding.

Many farms have an outbuilding while others have regular brick smokehouses in which the hams, shoulders and bacons may be hung and smoked.

A very satisfactory smokehouse can be constructed, as shown in the accompanying sketch. For a few pigs such small equipment is ample, but where many are to be killed and cured the equipment will need to be enlarged so that all the meat af a single killing can be cured at once.

The smoking process not only helps to preserve the meat but also imparts a very delicate and desirable flavor which cannot be obtained in any other way.

The meat for smoking, if brinecured, should be taken from the brine, soaked in water for half an hour, washed, and hung in the smokehouse to drain. It should dry for 24 hours before the fire is started. Hang the meat at a distance from the fire so it will warm up gradually and not become too hot. Take care that the pieces do not touch one another.

For fuel, use green hickory, maple or any hard wood. Never use resinous wood. The time required to smoke a lot of meat is from 36 to 48 hours, but a slower and longer smoking is desirable if the meat is to be kept for a long time.

When the smoking process is complete the meat should be allowed to cool and then be wrapped and stored. It should be first wrapped in heavy paper and then put into muslin sacks. In tying the top of the sack the old string by which the meat was hung should be removed and the top of the bag given a tight fold or double wrap to keep out insects. The bag is then brushed with a coating of yellow wash and the meat hung up until needed.

Yellow wash sufficient for 100 pounds of smoked meat may be prepared from the following recipe:

3 pounds barium sulphate.
.06 pound glue.
.40 pound flour.

THE SMITHFIELD PROCESS.

The celebrated Smithfield ham is like wine, the older the better, and it requires a different curing process. Smithfield hams are cured as follows:

The hams are placed in a large tray Liverpool fine salt, then the flesh surface is sprinkled with finely ground crude saltpeter until the hams are as white as though covered by a moderate frost—or, say, use 4 to 6 ounces of the powedered saltpeter to each 100 pounds of green hams.

After applying the saltpeter, salt immediately with the Liverpool fine salt, covering the entire surface well. Then pack the hams in bulk, but not in piles more than 3 feet high. In ordinary weather the hams should remain in salt in bulk one day for each pound each ham weighs—that is, a 10-pound ham should remain 10 days, and in like proportion of time for larger and smaller sizes. Next, wash with tepid water until the hams are thoroughly cleaned, and, after partially drying, rub the entire surface with finely ground black pepper, after which they should be hung in the smoke-house and the important operation of smoking begun. The smoking should be done very gradually and slowly, lasting 30 or 40 days.

After the hams are cured and smoked they should be repeppered, to guard against vermin, and then bagged. These hams improve with age and are especially fine when 1 year old.

ECONOMIC SUGGESTIONS

Cleanliness is the most important factor in butchering and curing meats, says the United States Department of Agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 913. Meat becomes tainted very easily.

Save all pieces of meat for sausage. There are many ways of converting it into a palatable product.

All waste fat, trimmings and skin should be rendered and the product used to make soap.

Bones should be crushed or ground for chicken feed.

Never put meat in cure before the animal heat is out of it.

Always pack meat skin-side-down when in the curing process, except the top lay in a brine cure, which should be turned fresh-side-down.

Keep close watch on the brine, and if it becomes "ropy," change it.

Do not forget to turn, or change meat several times during the curing process.

The fat or dry-cured meat sometimes becomes yellow, but that does not make it unwholesome.

It takes more time to smoke dry-cured than brine-cured pork.

Slow smoking is much better than rapid smoking, the heat is not so great and there is less chance of causing the meat to drip.

Ex-District Attorney Wills $10,000.

The will of Conrad S. Sheive, late of Norristown, former District Attorney of Montgomery for two terms, was admitted to probate and disposes of an estate valued at $10,000, which is given in equal shares to his brother, Walter J. and the latter's wife, Laura B. The brother is named as executor. The will, in the handwriting of the testator was executed July 8, 1914.

Poultry Specialists' Advice As To Feeding Breeding Birds.

Fertile Eggs From Vigorous Breeding Stock Are Necessary in Order to Obtain Good Hatches—Breed Influences size of Matings.

Fertile eggs from vigorous stock are essential in good hatching. They are obtained only from stock properly mated and kept under the best possible conditions to secure health and vitality Eggs from overfat breeding stock do not usually produce many strong chicks.

If breeding birds are confined they should be fed a varied supply of grains, meat and green feed. This feed helps keep fowls in good breeding condition, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Free range is usually important in the production of hatchable eggs, as it is much easier to keep up the vitality of stock handled in this manner than in birds that are yarded.

From 8 to 12 females of the American or general purpose class and 12 to 15 of the Mediterranean class can be mated with one male, depending on his age and vitality and where the fowls are yarded, but this proportion may be increased where the birds have free range. Good ventilation in the house is a great help in keeping the stock in good breeding condition.

SHOULD SELECT UNIFORM EGGS.

Abnormal, small and poorly-shaped eggs should be dicarded. Do not set eggs which have thin or very porous-appearing shells. Eggs should be set when fresh, if possible and it is not advisable to use eggs for hatching which are over two weeks old although stale ones frequently hatch. Selecting uniformly large eggs of the same color is one of the quickes ways o secure uniformity in the offspring and increase the size of the eggs. It is well to clean dirty eggs by rubbing lightly with a damp cloth, taking care not to rub off any more of the natural bloom of the egg than is necessary. Duck eggs usually require washing, which does not appear to injure their hatching qualities.

Eggs for hatching should be collected two or three times a day in freezing weather to prevent chilling. Broody hens allowed to sit on eggs in the laying nests all day may hurt the hatching qualities of the eggs. For convenience in handling, eggs, in large numbers, are generally kept in a cabinet or turning rack, in a room where the temperature is between 50 and 60 degrees F., if possible, although they will stand wider variation. It is not necessary to turn eggs kept only for a few days, but this should be done daily with those over a week old. Various commercial turning devices are sold by poultry supply companies, or the eggs may be kept in cabinet drawers and shuffled about with the hands by removing a few aggs from the trays. Commercial egg cases sometimes are used for holding the eggs for hatching.

Eggs from different varieties of the same class of poultry may be incubated together, but it is not advisable to mix eggs from the Mediterranean or eggs breeds such as Leghorne and Minorcas with Plymouth Rocks or Orpingtons, as the eggs from the smaller breeds after hatch a little earlier than those from the larger breeds. Neither the hen nor the incubator will hatch strong chickens from weak germs or from eggs which have not received proper care.

Sproul Acts to Protect Sports.

The Garbage Can.

The state department of Health has urged that all wooden boxes and uncovered receptacles now in use as garbage containers, be replaced by sanitary metal cans such as sell in the stores for less than two dollars.

These cans should be placed on elevated platforms and great care exercised, in seeing that garbage is not spilled in pouring. This precaution is of exceeding importance, the Department was stated, as flies breed in waste and seepage.

Hatfield to Have Fine New School Building.

One of the finest school buildings in this section of Pennsylvania will be erected by the residents of Hatfield township and Hatfield borough in Montgomery county, at a cost of approximately $190,000. The structure, it is stated will be the latest product in modern engineering as far as a consolidated rural school is concerned.

The new building was assured by more than two to one vote for a bond issue for the erection of the $190,000 structure to contain twelve rooms and to be a four-year vocational high school.

Seven hundred pupils will attend. There are 532 pupils in the township and 184 in the borough. The borough quota toward the school is $31,000 and that of the township is $70,000. The vote in the township was [illegible] for and 140 against.

The next step will be the selection of a site for the new building. It was stated Thursday morning by an interested party that it is the belief the school will be erected in South Hatfield, part in the township and part in the borough.

It was further stated Thursday morning that plans drawn for the new structure were not sanctioned by the State department and that new plans will have to be drawn by the State architects and passed by that department.

The consolidated school problem in the Hatfield section has been under fire for many years.

Cure for Jazz Suggested

A school for girls, with no parents about to interfere with the descipline and no vacation to introduce a period of frenzied festivity, was the remedy suggested by Mrs. Abbey Sutherland Brown, head of the Ogontz School for Girls, to cure the "jazziness" of the present age, "Flappers," believes Mrs. Brown, are the result of the unwarranted leniency of modern parents in their desire to make life enjoyable for their children.

Home training in the art of domestic science was suggested as a desirable means for bringing about a more sane standard of living. hTe members of the modern Club ,before whom Mrs. Brown delivered her talk, expressed the opinion that the challenge to mothers was not unwarranted and that it is time parents take their responsibilities more seriously.

The meeting was held in the lecture hall of the Acorn Club, 1618 Walnut street, Philadelphia. James Crane, the author spoke briefly of his work on the stage.

"The abnormality of the modern girl is not entirely her own fault. It is the fault of the atmosphere that surrounds her," declared Mrs. Brown. "Society's moral code is to be a success. Popularity and ravishing success in the first blush of her maidenhood, hat is the standard set for young girls. "Society thows too much responsibility on the young people.

When you ask a girl to appear as the cetner of of a social body when parents call her in to "show off" her charm it is not extraordinary that she goes to extremes and attempts unusal things.

"She is old and blase at eighteen. She starts going to parties and dances when she is thirteen or fourteen. Her holidays from school work are periods of frenzied festivity, during which ignorant parents in an attempt to give her a good time, overload her ith parties.

"I should like to have a school where here were no vacations and no parents to accomplish the undoing of all that was taught. I think then, perhaps, we might accomplish some good with our girls. Schools have a hard time remaking lives that are spoiled at the start by indulgent parents. Of course all girls are not of this kind. But we find a larger per centage of homes where parents have pampered and petted them until their standards of right are warped."

She also scored the growing practice of mothers who let their daughters chase about through the country in automobiles, in the company of boys. and more often than not unchaperoned.

"What is the remedy? Give them more work to do." she demanded.

Mrs. Brown also emphasized the importance of home training and the hundreds of things that a mother can teach and a school cannot. She also spoke of the little family courtesies as a most important, but sadly neglected part of a girl's training.

Quakertown Industries.

Several new Quakertown industries have begun operations, and have found a welcome as a means of employment. since working hours are short and the pay envelope none too full. Most of these industries employ women, and can hardly get get enough of them, but, as a citizen pointed out the other day, there should be more encouragement for industries employing men. The Chamber of Comerce is wrestling wtih this proposiiton now, but finds itself handicaped because man-power in industry usually demands much space and considerable capital, neither of which are looming up to any great extent in these parts. When an industry employing men seeks a location the proposition advanced is something like his: "We requre from 30,000 to 100,000 feet f floor space, the town to furnish one-half to three-fourths of the capial, and the Borough Council to remit taxes for five years." A woman-employing factory comes unostentaciously, rents a room, places several machines, advertises for help, which is usually forthcoming if it is limited, and gets to work. The town capitalists wouldn't know of its existence were it not that somebody is needed to run the machinery. Probably this is not an adequate answer to the question why there are not more industries employing men, but there might be concealed therein one or two grains of truth.

Conshohocken Cuts Tax Rate.

Keeping its promise to reduce the cost of borough government and reduce the present tax rate, the Conshohocken town council has placed the tax at ten mills, a reduction of three mills from the present rate, when eight mills, were levied for general borough purposes and five mills for charges on the bonded indebtedness. The estimated income of the borough for the year is over $47,000, of which $36,800 will be taxes of 1921. Back taxes to the amount of $8000 are still due, and revenue from liquor licenses is placed at $1200.

Wedded 70 Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan M. Shainline, of Abrams, Upper Merion township, quietly celebrated the seventieth anniversary of their marriage on April 17 surrounded by a few relatives and friends. They are thought to be the oldest married couple in the State. Mr. Shainline is just past 91 years of age. While Mrs. Shainline will be 90 in June.

As they did not care for any excitement or show to be connected with the celebration in honor of the occasion no formal entertainment was given. They received the greetings and well wishes of those who called quietly.

During the past fifty-four years the Shainlines have resided on the farm that is now their home. They claim that daily common-sense care of health and continued active occupation, with life in the open are responsible for their continued good health. They say if the coming generations wish to live a long life they should go back to the farm and work hard. While Mr. Shainline has always been a total abstainer, he smokes freely of a pipe or cigars never feeling any ill effects from it.

Surgeon on Vacation.

Dr. W. J. Wilkinson, surgeon in charge at Grand View Hospital, together with Mrs. Wilkinson, is spending a few weeks' vacation at Atlantic City. Upon his return he will arrange for an extended absence from the institution. His health has suffered from his close application to his duties at Grand View and he feels the need of a rest away from the responsibilities and cares as its head. nPlans as to where he will spend his leave are as yet not fully decided upon. The hospital board of directors will arrange with noted Philadelphia surgeons to perform the institution's surgical work during his absence.

The Asbestos Shingle Slate and Sheathing Company, which has been running steadily night and day since the beginning of the year piling up its product of asbestos shingles until it could scarcely find any more room for them in the hope of finding good business later in the summer, has received several orders lately ?asdnh,daaip Cuba which will prevent the shutting down of its works.

On Sunday evening last in Calvary Methodist Episcopal church Rev. G. G. Dilworth, pastor, preached his second sermon on the general subject, Men Who Failed, and Why". The theme chosen for last Sunday's discourse was Achan, alias "The Stone Buried." Next Sunday evening will be considered Sisera, alias "The Star Fighter," and on May 8, Naman, alias, "The Gallows." The eighth anniversary week of the new church home will be observed from May 15 to 22, andn a full program for these services is being prepared.

The Keasbey and Mattison Company which has borrowed about a million dollars since last July in an effort to prevent a complete shut-down of the works paying out all this money to its workmen, and even then being obliged to go on a three-day per week schedule, has been started upon a five-day week and will either keep it up all summer or shut down the works altogether. The prices of the magnesia coverings and asbestos textile products have been reduced and a 10 per cent reduction has been made in wages, but unless the mechanics of the country the carpenters, bricklayers and other skilled workers, acceded to a large reduction of wages nothing can prevent the Ambler plant from finally closing down its activities, and discharging its employes, until the dawn of better times.

It is an old saying that "uneasy is the head that wears the crown," but in no sense is it better illustrated than in the fact that the owners of the Ambler industries have had to borrow nearly $2,000,000 during the past winter and spring in order to keep the employes from the idleness which would ensue from the closing down of the dustrial plants in our borough. The working men seldom think of the trials which afflict the management.

WYNDMOOR.

At the regular monthly meeting of Arthur V. Savage Post, No. 100, held in the fire hall at Wyndmoor. It was decided to appoint a committee of arrangements for a memorial celebration. No definite plans were mentioned except that the monument to the ex-service men will be decorated with appropriate ceremony and possibly a speaker procured for the occasion. A ball game may be arranged for the afternoon. This post has already played one game and will be glad to hear from other Legion Posts and other organizations that have a ball team. The dance held at the Wyndmoor fire hall on March 31st, which was the first event of its kind to be held in Wyndmoor, was very successful both as an advertisement for the Legion and also from a social standpoint. The memorial tablet in Wyndmoor, which has been turned over to the post, will be cared for by the post from now on. There was a balance of about $65 remaining in the hands of the tablet committee after its completion. This was also turned over to the post. Some ladies very kindly furnished refreshments.

The third annual banquet of Zion Lutheran Brotherhood was held last Saturday evening in the Sunday School room of the church, 45 persons were present including members and wives. The affair was in charge of the social committee, John Harner, Warren Beidler, Alvin Godshall, assisted by Walter Rohrback, Earl Nash, Harold Rickert, Charles Wood and R. Y. William Rickert told of the spiritual educational, social and individual benefits derived from the monthly meetings. Rev. M. L. Cushmans are holding a removal sale. adv

The business of the Kaynem store in supplying the workmen of the 'Mattison interests, as they are called, with groceries and living supplies at near cost resulted in a sale of about $100,000 in supplies to the workmen or from $8,000 to $10,000 per month The business was run without profit to the Company but is believed to have saved the employes from $20,000 to $25,000 in its low prices.

The "Kaynem" store, the past year has proven a great benefit to the community, inasmuch as while it has not sold to others than its employes, it is said that the prices at which it has sold its supplies to its employes has prevented the stores from asking as high prices or they otherwise would have dne and this has been a decided benefit to the people of Ambler and vicinity.

Robert Hallowell, local garage dealer, had a narrow escape from death this Wednesday morning when the coupe he was driving, collided with a truck at the intersection of the Skippack and Butler Pikes. Mr. Hallowell received a number of cuts about the head, arm and hand, and he was otherwise bruised about the body. In addition his car was badly damaged, as was also the truck. However, the driver of the latter escaped injury. The corner where the accident occurred is becoming one of the most dangerous in the county. Within the past few weeks there have been no fewer than six accidents at this point.

Man with $700 Worth of Wire is Arrested.

A telephone girl's alertness caused the arrest Friday night of a wire thief suspect, after long distance telephone wire had been cut down in Joshua road, between Spring Mill and Skippack pike, near Fort Washington.

At 7:22 there was a flickering at the switchboard in the Germantown office. The 'phone girl on duty "listened in" and heard the wires being cut. She notified the chief operator and police found the place where the wires were cut.

Detectives saw the stolen wires had been dragged along the ground. They followed the trail Stenton avenue and Hillcrest, Chestnut Hill, where the wire thief evidently boarded a trolley car.

In the meantime a policeman, was sent to Germantown and Highland avenues to watch for the thieves on the trolley cars. One hour after the theft he arrested a man carrying a bag of 1,500 feet of copper wire, valued at $700. The prisoner said he was Antonio Pierchino, aged 32, of Carpenter street near Ninth, Philadelphia.

Auto Smash at Plymouth Meeting.

Leonard Smith, clerk of Conshohocken town council, while driving his automobile on the Germantown pike near Plymouth Meeting on Friday evening, figured in a collision. Smith was accompanied by James Riker and Roy Metzgar. They had just turned on to the pike when a large touring car driven by a colored chauffeur struck the Smith machine with considerable force. Ricker, who was on the rear seat, was thrown through the rear curtain and injured about the hand and wrist, and while Smith escaped injury, his car was badly damaged. There is a dispute as to the colored operator's card and the matter has been placed in the hands of an attorney.

MEMORIAL.

SAMUEL FISHER.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst by death one of our friends, Samuel L. Fisher, who for several years has been a member of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Ambler, therefore be it

Resolved, that in his removal from earthly activities this Bank has sustained the loss of an officer whose efforts were ever directed to its welfare and its advancement. His genial disposition and pleasing personality, his regularity of attendance willingness to work, his sterling integrity and his high sense of honor rendered his services and influence invaluable to this institution, while his modesty, dignity and frankness were an example to all. Fully realizing these many inestimable qualities, so well recognized in the deceased during his lifetime, the Board desires to make permanent record of his high appreciation of his valued services, our affectionate regard for his character and our profound sorrow in his death.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the institution and a copy thereof be forwarded the family, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy in their crushing bereavement.

Apple blosoms out the first of April the earliest bloom in thirty years in this locality. Always the May time and apple blossoms have been closely associated. This year they are a month ahead. Already apple blossoms have come and gone. May flowers are not depending upon April showers this season. Many of them are already with us.

The First National Bank of Ambler offers the following cash prizes to be competed for by depositors: 5 acres or more of corn, first prize, $50; second prize, $25; third prize, $10; best one acre, $25. Government bulletins with regard to the selection of seed, preparation of the ground, fertilization and cultivation may be secured free on application to the bank. An increasing interest among corn growers has been evidenced in these contests conducted by the bank for several years past. Growers may enter their fields at any time in the contest, but probably at the planting season is preferable because of the care and attention that can then be exercised over the growing crop during the whole season. Any grower may enter his name by complying to the above requirements. In the fall a committee of the board of directors from the institution visits the fields entered, and by observation, measurement and actual test determines the winners.

ORELAND.

The community was shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. Warren, of Weldy avenue, which occurred early Sunday morning, April 17. It was only the evening before that she had told a neighbor in conversation that she was going out on her porch the next day to see what her neighbors were doing. The end came very suddenly after a great deal of patient suffering. The deceased had been an invalid since coming to Oreland, but she had made many friends in spite of this and they will miss her very much. Her husband has the sympathy of all these friends in his bereavement. The remains were moved to Montpelier, Vermont, her old home, for burial.

mr InntAlysahonw2ehaabeenlwinhstp.

John Bowen, of Plymouth avenue, has taken possession of the house formerly occupoed by Dr. Yorke,

It is welcome news to hear of the recovery of Mrs. Zoll from her sudden illness and her many friends wish her a speedy and complete return to her former good health.

The past week saw the return of Mrs. Fallows from a long visit to her daughter's home in Syracuse. She reports the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. William Breisacher, who will be remembered as Edna Fallows.

There have been a number of secret meetings of the members of the Women's Auxiliary. If you are not on the inside of things, you will have to wait until the anniversary meeting in May. Be sure you get a bid to this party.

There are rumors of an infant industry starting up in Oreland - some people claim it has already started, but there seem to be stenuous objections to it. It seems that there are strong odors connected with the same and its fate seems to be sealed as steps have already been taken to get rid of it.

It has looked out during the past week that Oreland is going to have a regular community celebration for the 4th of July. We hope it is true. Talk it up, offer your suggestions and get on the right side of this proposition, and if you are approached for support, do not throw cold water on it. A little co-operation, and we all can have a fine time.

The postmaster of Oreland, A. L. Aiman, has made a number of changes in his store which have greatly improved it. He has also installed a telephone.

Appropriations Reported.

The following appropriations have been reported by the house appropriations committee at Harrisburg:

Montgomery hospital, $20,000; Pottstown Homeopathic hospital, $2,000; Pottstown hospital, $13,000; St. Joseph's Protectory, $8,000.

HOW IS YOUR HOME?

Ruralities, Their Homes and Mode of Living.

Observations on Conditions in the Domiciles of Farmers—Suggestions Concerning Simplicity, Good Taste and Continued Good Health.

For the last few months the writer has been an interested observer of country folk throughout the state and have come to one conclusion—you are far more progressive in farming your land than you are about your homes. You have machinery to do the work your fathers did by hand, and you are quick to take up new ideas and new methods in farming, yet you fail to see that you are hopelessly behind the times when it comes to furnishing and living in your homes.

Most of you, first of all, commit the unpardonable sin of having an old-fashioned, shut-up, except-when-company comes, parlor. And when the visitors arrive it is so musty and damp they wish unless they are used to the air in their own parlor they had been allowed to spend their time visiting in the kitchen. Open your windows in good weather, keep your shades up and your blinds back! You will say, the dust accumulates, and I say, a thousand times better have a little dust with good air and sunshine in the room than a thin layer which lies there week after week in the dark, damp room. But, you say, the paper fades in such strong light! Paper is cheap, and here let me say you make the grievous mistake of using heavy patterns on your walls and dark colors. This sort of paper has long ago been marked trash and thrown in the junk heap. A good light tan or gray paper in plain or all over soft patterns, will withstand a great deal of sun light besides giving a cheerful, bright, clean appearance to the room.

Do away with your dust catchers, too, souvenirs from your various travels, tail feathers from your favorite rooster and heirlooms that are usless and unattractive. Simplicity is the keynote of sensible, attractive homes. Clear the junk off your mantels and piano top. Put a clock on your mantel, one that will go - old clocks are interesting to look at and usful if they tell the itme. Put a pair of bright candles in some crystal candle sticks, a piece of china, brass or any interesting object and you will have simplicity besides a bright, colorful spot in your room. Don't drape your mantels or tie bows on them; these things only catch dust. If music is used or rolls for the player, put these on the piano, if you have no cabinet, but don't load it with nick-nacks and photographs.

If you have a table in the living room with a lamp for reading don't clutter it up with every kind of useless thing, taking up space that should be used for books or magazines. Have a space where you can lay your embroidery or sewing down when you need to without clearing off the whole table.

And why, when you have the whole outdoors full of growing things will you bring potted plants into your homes in such profusion—even into your bedroom? If you have a conservatory or a glassed in porch or room, good, but don't clutter up your house with dozens of plants. One or two to brighten the house through the winter months is quite all right, but why make a vertible green-house out of the rooms you live in. I have seen dust on the plants so thick I wondered they lived at all. This proves they are a nuisance.

In the diningroom, don't fill your sideboard with glass and china which have been broken and chipped beyond use. Clear it off, put the pieces that are rarely used in a cupboard and leave on it only one or two prettiest pieces. These will be decorative enough and less trouble to keep clean. Favors from parties and medicine bottles should be out of sight since your diningroom should be free from everything not in use. This room should be light cheerful and clean, since it is the meeting place for the family, the room where ideas and experiences are exchanged. As for the kitchen, only one word need be said, keep it clean and the air fresh. Stale odors of cooking are sickening, and they soon permeate the house.

The bedrooms should be free from trash, since it makes work easier and the rooms keep clean longer. The farmer's wife has such a full day that anything which means picking up or extra dusting should be put out of sight to make her work as easy as possible.

In conclusion, I have only one thing to say—live in your homes, live in every room. Get lots of air and sunshine in your house and don't worry about spoiling the furniture or rugs. They will probably out-live you. Make your homes comfortable and you will feel better-rested and be healthier to carry on your great work—that of feeding the nation!

Norristown to Borrow for Schools.

The preliminary step was taken at a recent regular meeting of Norristown school board to increase the bonded indebtedness $156,000, when a resolution to that effect was offered and unanimously adopted. Of the fund so to be raised $115,000 will be used for the purpose of building a new school and $41,000 for refunding old debts.

The athletic committee reported a balance of $2742.88 in the athletic fund.

The presentation of prizes of $10 and $5 to be taken from the athletic fund. to the winners of an oratorical contest, soon to be held by the High school pupils, was authorized.

After prolonged discussion it was determined that the board would not become prosecutors in juvenille court cases, where apparently pupils were incorrigible and cold not attend school. Upon the advice of the solicitor, J. Ambler Williams, it was decided that where parents stated that they could not control their children and compel them to go to school the Board will continue at frequent intervals to have the parent arrested and fined, until the father will take the step to bring the child before the Juvenille Court and have him sent to an institution where he will get discipline.

May Sue for Interest.

It has not been definitely determined whether District Attorney Frank X. Renninger will take action against the county to recover interest on salaries which were held up for ten months pending litigation in the courts.

Several lawyers have expressed the opinion that he is entitled to full interest on the more than $10,000 which the county held and upon which the county drew interest during that preiod.

They cite the instance of Assessor Wilson Anson who was awarded interest on money held up by the county.

Forming Country Club.

A movement is on foot among men of this section, known as the "Upper end" or North Penn to form a country club. Sellersville, with its beautiful hills, and by reason of its being centrally located and easily accessible through the leading automobile thoroughfares, has been thought of as the location of the club headquarters.

The site in the minds of those back of the movement is the Miss Frankenfield farm at the northeast edge of Sellersville and quite near the borough line of Perkasie also. The Frankenfield farm is being considered mainly because it will lend itself nicely for golf.

A meeting of men interested in the organization wil be held shortly, to arrange working plans for starting the club.

Boilermakers Refuse Time Change.

The boilermakers employed by the John Wood Manufacturing company refused to accept a temporary change in working hours. The plant has been working on a 48-hour basis, and the company asked the local union to accept a 55-hour schedule with a 48-hour pay. In making the suggestion Superintendent Sutcliffe explained that independent companies were paying less wages and could make prices undersselling his company with the result that they were loosnig business would warrant placing a double shift that the wages would return to the old basis. A vote was takenn with the result that the proposition was rejected.

Workman Felled With Sledge.

A peculiar accident in which a workman was seriously injured, occurred, at the plant of the Philadelphia Slag Company, Swedeland, as a result of which Nick Torlando, of 225 East Penn street, Norristown was a patient at Montgomery hospital suffering from injuries to the head—possibly a fractured skull.

Torlando and several companions were engaged in breaking up huge chunks of cinder, formed when slag from the furnace is dumped over the bank. One man at a time was swinging the large 16-pound sledge hammer in the work of disintegrating the rock, and Torlando had completed his turn and stepped back to take a rest.

Unfortunately he took up a position to close to the man swinging the hammer, and as the latter threw the the sledge back to add force to his blow, the head of the iron implement struck Torlando on the forhead. The injured man was unconscious for about five minutes, and when he came too he requested a doctor.

Later he suffered so much pain that he was taken to Montgomery hospital An X-ray examination will be made to determine the exact extent of the injury.

—Mr. Kelly has been elected superintendent of the Orange Home, Hatboro, taking thep lace of Mr. Morrison, who resigned.

Sergant Louis Imhoff, formerly of near Sellersville, now stationed at his former home on Friday and Saturday renewing acquaintances at Tylersport also.

Sergant Imhoff has spent 25 years in the U. S. Army, having served during the Spanish-American War, in Cuba; in the Philipino insurrection and in France with the A. E. F. In the World War he was attached to an artillery unit and saw severe fighting.

The former Sellersville man has a wife and two sons who are quartered with him at Meade. He expects to continue in the service until placed upon the retirement list five years hence when he will have completed the 30 years required for such honors. While in Sellersville he was the guest of his friend, Special Officer Harry Sturin, who also has 12 years' service in the U. S. Army to his credit.

Swat the Flies.

For the benefit of those spetical persons who pooh-pooh fly-swatting campaigns and the assertions that child life is needlessly sacrifice to flies, the following statement by Dr. Miller, chief of the Division of Public Health Education, is given.

"It would be unreasonable to claim that all infant death from diarrhea and enteritis were the result of fly borne infection, but when we consider that these diseases can be carried by flies, and that from the beginning to the end of the fly seasons towers high over the death rate of other months, and that in every city where a fly campaign has been pushed with sufficient energy to result in a marked decrease in fly incidence, there has been a corresponding dropping in the death rate of children under two years, from diarrhea and enteritis, it must be admitted that there is at least strong evidence that flies are important factors in the lives of our babies.

"The success of a fly campaign depends upon the destruction of their breeding places.

"Absence of filth means absence of flies."

Curfew Law in Conshohocken.

Conshohocken borough has passed a curfew law by a vote of eight to five.

The tax rate has been fixed at 10 mills.

Council also received complaints of several insanitary conditions and the members decided to notify the health authorities.

The resolution presented by three citizens recommending the grading of East Third avenue was approved and the street committee was instructed to comply.

The bill amounting to $197 for repairs to West Elm street bridge was brought up for discussion, and the street committee was instructed to cooperate with the railroad company in repairing the structure, half of the expenses to be paid by the borough.

The burgess presented his report in which he stated that $122 was collected in licenses during the month.

Orders were granted for $254.06, incurred by the Street Committee for labor and material used in repairs.

A communication was received from the Park Commission stating that the local Post of the American Legion requested the use of a room in the Park House in which to hold committee meetings and to receive dues from members. The council recommended that the request be granted.

The communication received from the Conshohocken Community Center in reference to using the Park House as a Community Center also met with approval.

They Speak Well of It.

"I frequently hear Chamberlain's Cough Remedy praised by friends and acquaintances which only tends to strengthen my good opinion of it" writes Mrs. Fred Arter, Zanesville, Ohio. Try it when you have a cough or cold and see for yourself what an excellent medicine it is. apr

tems of Passing Interest Condensed in Short Paragraphs.

Police Solve Old Robbery—Turnpike Condition Complained Of—Firemen's Benefit Next Saturday Eve—Personals and Miscellaneous Items.

Plans are being considered for a local Memorial day celebration in keeping with the practice of former years.

John Hopwood, of Hoopeston, has purchased a Ford touring car.

Samuel Yeakle spent the week-end in Washington, D. C., where Mrs. Yeakle was in attendance at the national convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution during the week.

Local Odd Fellows, on Sunday evening, attended an interesting service in Trinity Lutheran church, this place.

Charles Weil, who has been undergoing treatment in the Medico-Chi. hospital, Philadelphia, is somewhat improved and has returned to his home here.

Mrs. Elizabeth N. Arbuckle is spending some time in Washington, D. C., as the guest of relatives.

At a recent meeting of the Montgomery County Baseball league the Conshohocken club was accepted in place of the Fort Washington club. On May 13 at this place a combination meeting of the representatives of the Montgomery County and the Philadelphia Suburban Baseball leagues. The baseball season will open on May 14.

Mrs. Effie R. Anschutz, formerly postmaster here, is drawn for civil court jury service commencing next week, at Norristown.

More than $70 was realized by the Girl Scouts, of St. Thomas' church by the recent sale and benefit held. A portion of the funds will be devoted to the purchase of a flag.

The game, between, Fort Washington and Conshohocken, which was to have been played at Conshohocken last Saturday, was again postponed on account of rain. Should the weather conditions be favorable a game will be played next Saturday.

The residents along the pike from this place south as far as Valley Green, are becoming greatly exercised over the condition it has been ever since the lowed to remain. The Springhouse and Chestnut Hill turnpike is considered one of the main thoroughfares leading into Philadelphia, and to have it lay in the condition ith as been ever since the work of rebuilding has been started is nothing short of a crime, it is declared. It is pointed out that for the last six or seven weeks there has been some excellent weather which was just right for road building, but not a tap, outside of relaying the tracks of the Lehigh Valley Transit company, has been done. The Church road, which is now used greatly in reaching Philadelphia, is also in a bad condition and parts of it are unfit for travel.

Word has been received that the $10,000 suit instituted by Harold G. Knight, Esq., of Ambler, for his client, Edward Schultz, and against Morris Goldstein, will come up for trial before the courts at Norristown the week of May 2nd. It will be remembered that the suit grew out of the injuries sustained by Mr. Schultz's son, who, it is charged was thrown into mowing machine knives while the machine was being hauled over the Hoopeston road by Goldstein's son, Mayer, several months ago.

Don't forget the firemen's entertainment and bazaar next Saturday evening. There will be some surprises in store for you. Prizes will be awarded, and no effort has been spared by the comittee to make the event an enjoyable one.

On Friday evening Loller lodge, of Hatboro, visited Fort Washington and the members were deligtfully entertained with addresses and a banquet

Adam McCrork will remove shortly into one of the Pardee houses, on Mathers lane, and will be employed by Mrs. W. L. Foulke, of Whitemarsh

Elmer E. Atkins, owner of the former Gwynedd Friends' property, long occupied by Isaac Conard, deceased, has been making many improvements thereto including a complete renovation of the house. The lawn is to be regraded.

Frank Miller, who has erected a neat bungalow in the lot on the southerly side of Mr. Akins' property, will shortly move into the dwelling.

The Fort Washington branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold an all-day sewing meeting April 28th, at the home of Mrs. S. B. Haines. Directors will please notice that only one meeting will be held per month and that is on the last Thursday. It is hoped a large attendance will result at these meetings.

Harvey Sabold, on Friday, received 200 White Leghorn baby chicks, and he now has about 400 in his colony.

Lucinda Ottinger, whose leg was broken when an automobile backed into her recently, is recovering nicely.

James Lamb, was presented with a handsome new galvanized water pail for use as official water carrier to the ball team. The exercises accompanying the gift took place at the plant of the Wheeling Corrugating Co., Philadelphia, where Mr. Lamb is employed.

A year-old robbery was solved by the local Fort Washington police recently by Thomas Moll and Leo Spiekermann with the assistance of John Wheeler. About a year ago H. A. Clark, of Flourtown, contractor, was unloading stone at Ambler and was using a five-horse power gasoline engine. At the request of Mr. Clark the identity of the two young men is not revealed. The local police are now equipped with a motorcycle and may be reached at any time by calling Ambler 429 during the day or Ambler 254 W or 45 at night.
